Embargo on Rhodesia Before UN

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — African members of the U.N. Security Council planned to propose today that it order an oil embargo and a broadened trade boycott against Rhodesia's white-minority government.

Mali, Nigeria and Uganda were working to get in the formal proposal before the council continued its Rhodesian debate this afternoon.

At that meeting, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg was expected to announce U.S. support for Britain's position that the Rhodesian rebellion should be ended by peaceful means alone, through selective mandatory U.N. economic sanctions.

The Africans drew up amendments to a pending British resolution calling for a mandatory boycott of 12 Rhodesian exports and a mandatory embargo on military supplies for Rhodesia. The amendments would extend the embargo to ore and oil products and would add coal and manufactured goods to the Rhodesian exports that Britain proposed for boycott — asbestos, iron ore, chrome, pig iron, sugar, tobacco, copper, meat, meat products, hides, skins and leather.

Both resolution and amendments would substitute binding orders to all U.N. members for the voluntary trade boycott and oil embargo that the council adopted in November 1965 after the Rhodesian whites declared Rhodesia independent of Britain to evade British pressure for eventual African majority rule.

Britain fears losing its large trade with South Africa, part of the underpinning of the pound sterling. The United States also has a large stake in South African trade.

However, the Rhodesian case seemed likely to produce eventual African demands for boycott action against South Africa, Rhodesia's chief source of oil. The South African government has said it will continue normal trade with Rhodesia regardless of Security Council action.

In Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, Prime Minister Ian Smith was reported considering amending Rhodesia's constitution to guarantee progress toward African majority rule, but sources said he was running into opposition from extreme right-wingers in his Cabinet. The informants said Smith believes Britain may reconsider its sanctions policy against Rhodesia if he meets its demands.

Fired Prison Head Will Meet Press

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP)—Guthrie R. Goodwin, dismissed as superintendent of the Tucker Prison Farm Saturday, will discuss the matter with newsmen Tuesday at a 10 a.m. press conference in Pine Bluff.

A spokesman for Goodwin said he had originally planned today, but had to postpone it until Tuesday.

Goodwin said he had not yet been given an official reason for a request that he resign, but added that he knew what the reasons were. "I have no ill will about it," he told The Associated Press Sunday. "I'm making my plans and I'm going to keep my shirt clean."

He said any additional comment would have to come at the news conference Tuesday. Goodwin took over at Tucker in September following a major shakeup at the prison in which three wardens were fired following an investigation that Gov. Orval Faubus said turned up evidence of extortion, prisoner beatings and traffic in liquor at the prison.

The Arkansas Gazette at Little Rock reported Sunday that Goodwin's dismissal smacked "of possibly another scandal" at the prison.

The investigation last August apparently headed a mass breakout of some 300 Tucker inmates, said Eugene B. Hale, the governor's aide on prison matters.

"We just got bits of information that led us to feel that we were letting the prisoners down," Hale said, referring to Goodwin's dismissal. "When we went in there in August we promised we would put an end to any mistreatment."

Hale added, "Some of this, we heard, was coming back. Nobody's being charged with anything. We just want to see the men treated fairly and that a good job is done."

Hale said Goodwin had tried to do a good job, but State Police had given reports that led the board and others to send Prison Supt. O. E. Bishop to Tucker.

Bishop and two assistant wardens took over administrative duties at the prison Saturday.

The governor's office said a successor for Goodwin had been chosen but that in the interim warden Tom Cann would be in charge of Tucker. Goodwin's successor's name was not revealed.

The chairman of the penitentiary board, Jeff Wood of Cabot, said Goodwin was probably dismissed in order to return Goodwin to his district parole supervisory job.

Donates $35 Million Art Collection

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Philanthropist Paul Mellon has given Yale University one of the world's outstanding private art collections, $35 million worth of British works he gathered over the last 15 years.

Along with the collection of 17th-, 18th-, and 19th-century paintings, watercolors, drawings and books, Mellon also presented his alma mater funds to build a gallery and library where they can be displayed. The building's cost is estimated at between $6 million and $9 million.

The gifts were announced Thursday by Kingman Brewster Jr., president of Yale. Mellon, a member of the class of 1929, was not present for the announcement of the donation.

The collection, regarded by the university as the greatest body of British art outside Britain, is composed of 1,000 oil paintings, 3,000 watercolors, prints and drawings and 4,000 rare books.

The oils and watercolors are representative of what is known as the golden age of British painting from 1697 to 1851 and include 29 Hogarths, 35 Turners, 66 Constables, and 55 Gainsboroughs.

Private dealers estimated the worth of the collection at $35 million.

Mellon, 59, is president of the National Gallery of Art in Washington. His father, Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the Treasury under three presidents, gave the gallery to the nation as a $70-million gift over 30 years ago.

Family of Five Escaped Reds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
BERLIN (AP)—An East German family of five slipped on foot through Communist border barriers before dawn today and escaped into the American sector of West Berlin, police reported.

The Potsdam butcher and his wife, both 37, heaved their two daughters, 10 and 7, over the last obstacle, a barbed wire fence. Then they climbed through with their 18-year-old son.

Police said the family set off alarms and East German border guards fired shots, but none of the family was hit.

The father told a West Berlin customs official: "We had no plan for the escape. We just marched off and hoped that it would somehow succeed. And it did succeed."

Eisenhower Operation Set Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Surgeons removed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's gall bladder today. There was no immediate word on his condition after the operation.

Walter Reed Army Hospital announced the 76-year-old Eisenhower was back in his hospital room at 10:05 a.m. (EST) after completion of the operation which began at 8 a.m.

Maj. James Sonneborn of the hospital's public information staff said he expected word "momentarily" on how the five-star general was feeling.

The operation, scheduled for 8 a.m. EST, is the second major surgery for the five-star general in 10 years, and his fifth hospitalization for major illness — including two heart attacks — in 11 years.

Eisenhower, 76, said last Thursday that doctors didn't want the faulty gall bladder in his body when he already has a bad heart.

A team of Army surgeons headed by Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the Army's surgeon general, is to perform the operation at Walter Reed Army Hospital, expected to take about one and one-half hours. Technically, it's called a cholecystectomy.

Private surgeons say gall bladder surgery is a "low risk" operation for otherwise healthy people. They add that while Eisenhower's medical and surgical history would naturally "add to the over-all risk," it is by no means unprecedented for a patient with comparable history to come through major surgery successfully.

Usual procedure in uncomplicated gall bladder cases allows the patient to get out of bed the day after surgery and sit in a chair, or walk a few steps with assistance. Some gall bladder patients are allowed out of bed late the afternoon of the same day following early morning surgery.

Arabs Want UN Troops Withdrawn

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan has agreed to let in Iraqi and Saudi Arabian troops within two months but only if U.N. peacekeeping forces are withdrawn from the frontier between Israel and the United Arab Republic, a Jordanian government spokesman said Sunday night.

The Jordanian stipulation appeared to check the plans of other Arab leaders to extend their troops further along the Israeli frontier since it was unlikely that the United Nations would remove its forces and risk a further increase in Middle East tensions.

Jordan has expressed fear that foreign troops admitted to its territory would be used to overthrow King Hussein.

Nor was U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser, with 55,000 of his troops fully occupied in Yemen, thought to want the U.N. forces withdrawn. He has long sought to curb the militancy of other Arab leaders, warning that they are unable to wage war successfully on Israel because of their lack of unity.

A multinational U.N. force, now numbering about 4,000 men, has patrolled the 145-mile Israel-U.A.R. border since 1957, after the two nations battled in the Sinai Desert.

Jordanian Information Minister Abdul Hamid Sheraf said Jordan's position was presented over the weekend to a meeting in Cairo of the Arab League Defense Council. The council met to consider action following an Israeli attack on three Jordanian border villages Nov. 13.

The U.N. Security Council censured Israel for the attack. Israel said it acted in reprisal for border raids by Arab terrorists.

Reports from Cairo said the Arab Council had forced Jordan into a unanimous decision to let in Iraqi and Saudi Arabian troops. But the minister said the troops could enter Jordan only as part of an over-all Arab military plan agreed on at previous conferences.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — No one paid much attention to the news that the city had ordered the razing of the LeGrand Theater as an unsafe structure.

But to three million servicemen and women of World War II and scores of movie figures, the event would have significance. For the LeGrand was once the site of the Hollywood Canteen.

During the three years of its existence, the Canteen offered topnotch entertainment to GIs passing through Los Angeles. Some even got a chance to jittersbug with Lana Turner or Joan Crawford.

The Canteen originated with Betty Davis and her then agent, Jules Stein, founder of the giant MCA corporation. Both saw the need for Hollywood to offer a haven for servicemen like New York's famous Stage Door Canteen. The pair proposed one and drew immediate enthusiasm from the film community.

On Oct. 3, 1943, the Hollywood Canteen first opened its doors on Cahuenga Boulevard just south of Sunset Boulevard. The building had once housed a theater that was aptly named The Barn. Studios and guilds donated goods and services to decorate the place, and a refurbishing job valued at $15,000 was accomplished with a $200 outlay.

Over the front door appeared the sign: "Through These Portals Pass the Most Beautiful Uniforms in the World." Only men and women in uniform were allowed to enter that way. All others came through the rear door, and some of Hollywood's highest-paid producers and directors washed dishes for the guests.

Every night for the next three years, Hollywood entertained the nation's fighting men. They were served up hot dinners by such waitresses as Betty Grable, Jane Russell, Paulette Goddard, Ann Sheridan and a youthful Elizabeth Taylor. The boys were entertained by Bob Hope, Danny Kaye, Joe E. Brown, Dinah Shore and Betty Hutton, and they danced with starlets to the music of Kay Kyser, Harry James and Duke Ellington.

"My favorite memory was one Christmas Eve," recalls a volunteer. "Bing Crosby came to the back door with his four young sons and asked if the family could entertain. The five Crosbys sang 'White Christmas' and yuletide carols, and there were few people in the Canteen with dry eyes."

Canteen President Betty Davis persuaded Warner Bros. to make an all-star movie, "Hollywood Canteen," and proceeds from the film made expenses no problem.

The girls' division includes a field of ten teams. They are as follows: Bradley, Cale, Bodcaw, Emmet, Spring Hill, Kirby, Waldo, Hope, Stamps, and Stephens. In the Boys' section of the meet the field is not as broad but does include a well selected group of Class B schools. They are Bradley, Emmet, Bodcaw, Stamps, Spring Hill, and Cale.

Tuesday night will be an off night for the tournament as the Hope Bobcats and Ladycats will see regular season action with Prescott at home.

Asians Doing Better in Track, Field

By EUGENE LEVIN

BANGKOK (AP)—Asia's athletes, fully in the swing of the fifth Asian Games, were promising strong evidence today that the track stars of America and Europe were in for closer competition at the 1968 Mexico

"We're doing better—there's no question about it," said a Japanese track and field official.

His evidence: In the first two days of track and field there were 11 finals, and in eight of them Asian Games records were set.

Many of the times are still well off the world marks, but world marks are not always Olympic marks.

An example of the vast improvement in the quality of Asian athletes came Sunday in the final of the men's 800 meters. No less than five runners broke the Asian Games record of 1:52.1 set by Y. Muroya of Japan two Asian Games ago, in 1958.

B.S. Barua of India was the fastest of the five record breakers, winning in 1:49.4. That's still well off Peter Snell's world mark of 1:44.3, but it is a long stride forward from the old Asian Games record.

Other Asian Games records are falling by considerable margins—not just the hairthin margins usually achieved when the kings of sport break world records.

Much of the improvement in the caliber of Asian athletics is coming, as expected, from the Japanese, hosts of the 1964 Olympics.

Of the 14 gold medals decided so far, the Japanese have chalked up eight—six of them in track and field events.

The Asian Games, now in their third full day of competition, close Dec. 20.

Tigers Split 2 Games With Ashdown

By JAMES HAMILTON

After defeating Ashdown Friday night by a score of 51-45, the Tigers came back Saturday to play in a tournament in Prescott and was victorious in the first game by a score of 67-47 over Lewisville, but lost their second game to Prescott by a score of 40-30.

The Tigers Junior Boys started off the tournament against the Prescott Juniors. The Junior Tigers, leaning on the arms of Frank Prater, were not able to stir themselves on to victory over the Prescott Juniors as they were defeated 55-13.

In the fourth game of the tournament, the Senior Tigers took on the Senior Boys of Lewisville. Throughout the first three quarters, it was a seasaw battle between Yerger and Lewisville. But Yerger came out on top in the fourth quarter and defeated Lewisville 67-47.

Next the Senior Tigers played Prescott, who had defeated Ashdown previously in the tournament by a score of 65-37. The two Tiger teams put on a great exhibition for the fans in a close and exciting game. The score at half time was 27 all. After the half, Prescott then pulled off from the Tigers and defeated them 40-30.

In other games of the Tournament, the Ashdown Juniors defeated Lewisville 58-47, the Prescott Juniors then trampled Ashdown 47-30. In a close game, the Lewisville Seniors defeated Ashdown 34-33.

The leading scorers for the Tigers in the tournament were Spencer Brown with 29 points, James Monk with 27, and Johnny Smith with 23 points.

AIC Relaxes Ruling on Scholarships

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— Full athletic scholarships for football and basketball players in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference have been approved by the faculty representatives of the league.

The conference voted 7-3 here Saturday to provide tuition, fees, room and board for athletes in the two sports. Tuition and fees had previously been paid, along with $500 a year to apply to room and board expenses.

Harding, Hendrix and Ouachita Baptist University opposed the proposal.

The league also voted to discontinue its preconference track meet in March, to add the 440-yard intermediate hurdles to replace the 330-yard hurdles in the AIC track meet and to add the triple jump to dual and triangular meets this spring and to the AIC program in the spring of 1968.

The group defeated a plan to make junior college undergraduate transfers immediately eligible to compete.

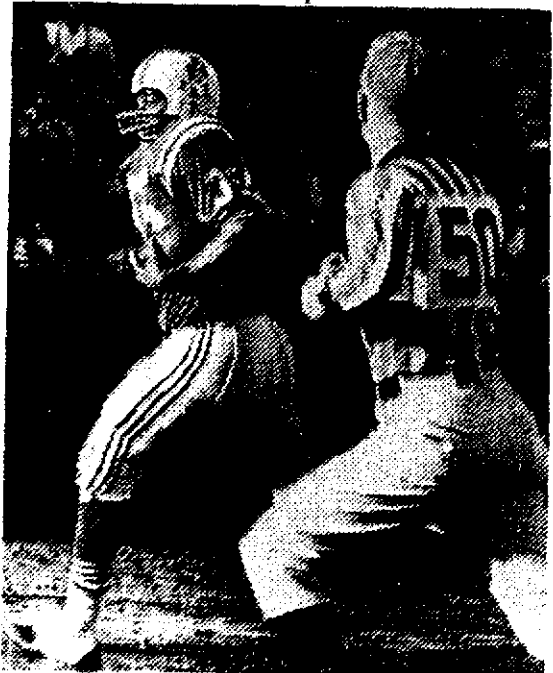

Also approved was a proposal to plan more rigid enforcement of the conduct of players and coaches in relationship to game officials.

Cager Has an Ear Infection

BOSTON (AP)— Wayne Embury, veteran National Basketball Association forward obtained by Boston from Cincinnati shortly before the start of the season, was admitted early today to the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary.

The 6-foot-8 Embury was injured when he caught a finger in the left eye under the boards during the Celtics' 117-103 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers.

Trainer Buddy Leroux said Embury probably will be hospitalized 10 days.

Celtics Feel They Can Catch 76ers

BOSTON (AP) Z— The Boston Celtics, bidding for a ninth straight National Basketball Association title, face a do-it-yourself task and they're confident they can overtake the Philadelphia 76ers in the Eastern Division race.

The Celtics posted their sixth straight victory and snapped Philadelphia's 11-game winning streak by defeating Wilt Chamberlain & Co. for the second time in three meetings 117-103 Sunday night.

In the only other game played, the Los Angeles Lakers 118 on the West Coast as Jerry West scored a jump shot with 28 seconds to play. The loss was the seventh straight for the Royals.

"It's a long season and even if we had lost I wouldn't have been too upset," Boston Player-Coach Bill Russell said. "I still think we'll beat them in the long run."

The victory was the 21st in 26 games for the Celtics, but they still trail the 76ers by 3½ games. Philadelphia, which has lost to only one other club, boasts a fantastic 26-3 mark. The two rivals have seven regular season meetings left.

Nick Eddy Is Signed by Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Nick Eddy, the All-America halfback from Notre Dame, was signed by the Detroit Lions Sunday in hopes he can provide them with a breakthrough running threat.

The Lions outbid Denver of the American Football League to sign him to a National Football League contract. Eddy was redshirted one year and was drafted by both clubs last year. No one would discuss contract terms, but the money was estimated to be around $250,000.

Eddy is 6-foot-tall and weighs 205. He compiled a 5.6 rushing average at Notre Dame in three years and caught 44 passes for 708 yards. He turned in outstanding performances on kick returns.

Eddy was named the most valuable player on Notre Dame's national championship team and finished third in the voting for the Heisman Award.

Emmet Takes 2 of 3 From Hope Cagers

By: RALPH ROUNTON

Friday night three Hope teams traveled to Emmet and came back with one victory and two defeats.

In the first game the Hope Junior Girls put up a valiant fight before falling 23-19. Behind 16-21 at the half, the locals cut into the lead early in the third quarter. At one point Hope only trailed 18-17, but several free throws put Emmet ahead to stay. Leading scorers for Hope were Linda Wray with 7 points and Mary Beth Milligan with 6. Patton led Emmet with 14.

The Hope Senior Girls put the second contest away early, trouncing the Emmet girls 47-15. The verdict never was in doubt as the Lady Cats jumped to a 9-1 margin and were never headed as they raised their record to 2-3. Kathryn Coleman was Hope's leading scorer, throwing in 18 points. Jo McKamie was next with 9 points and Gail Hartfield and Carol Anthony had 8 apiece. Hale had 12 for Emmet.

In the final game of the evening, the Emmet Senior Boys handled a smaller Hope "B" Team 72-47. The "B" Boys fell behind 17-6 at the quarter and were never able to catch up. In the final quarter the locals outscored Emmet 22-16, erasing the big 56-25 Emmet lead after the third quarter. Leading scorers for Hope were Donnie Middlebrooks with 13 and Danny Putman with 10. Kenny Dougan pumped in 28 points for Emmet.

Harding Rolls to Win Over Arkansas C.

George Frazier scored 22 points and got 11 rebounds Saturday night as Harding rolled to a 70-65 Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball victory over Arkansas College at Searcy.

Teammate Rick Turner contributed 20 points while Arkansas College's Jim Haney, the leading scorer in the AIC, led scoring with 24 points, including 19 in the first half.

Mike Lamb's six consecutive points gave Harding the lead early in the second half after the Scots held a 38-34 halftime lead.

In tonight's action, co-leaders Ouachita Baptist and Hendrix collide at Arkadelphia. Each has a 3-0 conference record. The only other AIC game to night matches Henderson and Arkansas College at Batesville.

THE DATE HAS been set—Feb. 6, in the Houston Astrodome—and now Ernie Terrell, the WBA version of a heavyweight champion, gets down to the serious business of challenging Cassius Clay for the title.

Looks Like Cowboys, Packers

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Doesn't anybody want to start the new year with the Green Bay Packers for company?

The Dallas Cowboys, given a clear shot at nailing a Jan. 1 date with the Packers in the National Football League championship game, inadvertently backed off Sunday, bowing to Washington 34-31 on a Charley Gogolak field goal with eight seconds to play.

Neither St. Louis nor Cleveland, however, profited from the Dallas setback. Atlanta's surprising young Falcons upended the puncheonless Cards 16-10 and Philadelphia, sparked by Al Nelson's 100-yard touchdown burst, ended the Browns' title hopes 33-21.

The three form reversals left the Eastern Conference title still up for grabs going into the final weekend of the campaign.

The Cowboys, assured of no worse than a first-place tie, can take their first division crown if second-place St. Louis stumbles against Cleveland Saturday. Should the Cards beat the Browns, Dallas must either win or tie at New York next Sunday to avert a playo "We're No. 1."

And about an hour later, after Detroit had whipped Toronto 4-1 and Boston had battled back to the Chicago 2-2, the Rangers were indeed, No. 1.

The Rangers have lost just two games in the last 15 and have shot from last place to the top of the league. They are one point ahead of the Black Hawks and Maple Leafs, who are tied for second.

Doug Sanders and Al Bessie link collected $13,500 each for second place, three strokes back at 259.

THE DEER, THEY GO BOOM

From all indications this year's deer season should produce results unequalled in past records. No other American game species has retreated farther from the brink of disaster than the white-tailed deer. Let's take a look at him in impressive comeback across the nation.

The northern deer states will continue with unprecedented harvests. Last year, Michigan fielded 609,000 hunters and took 113,000 deer. In the state of Pennsylvania, 99,788 whitetails were taken and this was considered to be an inadequate harvest in view of the size of the herd.

Florida, despite the Everglades drowning disaster, still shows a wide herd increase. Consider Louisiana, a state where 2000 deer were killed 15 years ago and everyone felt that this was pretty fair. Last year, Louisiana gunners took 25,000 head in a banner season.

It looks like a top season in at least half of the 45 states where deer hunting is permitted, with 17 calling for good hunting and only five predicting fair to poor results. This would have to be just another honor badge in the hats of the game management men, working under an enlightened system. A fine job, well done!

Nicklaus, Palmer Pick Up Loot

PALM BEACH GARDEN, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, favorite son of Latrobe, Pa., will be honored at a Chamber of Commerce banquet there today, and for openers he can state that he's won more money in one season than any golfer in history.

Palmer cracked the dollar mark Saturday after pairing with Jack Nicklaus to win the $50,000 first prize in the PGA National Team Championship, a tournament which set a record itself as the richest ever with purses totaling $275,000.

Palmer's $25,000 share of the purse boosted his earnings to $154,692 on the U.S. tour this year, enabling him to steal the one-year money crown from Nicklaus by some $346. Nicklaus won $154,346 two years ago and this year has amassed a total of $140,635.

And so far as official earnings go — money won in PGA-sanctioned tournaments only — the 26-year-old Nicklaus still is king with $140,752.

The Palmer-Nicklaus combination clipped three strokes off the team championship record with a 72-hole total of 258-32 under par.

Doug Sanders and Al Bessie link collected $13,500 each for second place, three strokes back at 259.

Shooting glasses are a must in this day of shooting under crowded conditions. Even a spent shot, one falling with next to no force, hitting the center of your eye can do tremendous, if not irreparable, damage. They will also protect you from possible powder blowback from the breach of your shotgun. Best of all, they keep stray twigs from zeroing in on your eyes while you are brush hunting.

Good shooting glasses are not that expensive. They can be custom-ground to your correction if you need glasses normally. They are as good an investment as you can make . . . well above the cost of an eye. Better give it some thought before next season.

Oswald's Brother Not Find Reason CHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — One thing that has always troubled me is the why of this thing," says Robert Oswald, the brother of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald. Robert Oswald thinks the Warren Commission, although correctly naming his brother as the killer, failed to determine a motive.

Oswald, 32, a sales manager for a Wichita Falls, Tex., brick company, says he's writing a book he hopes will explain why and provide new details.

"I would hope it is done in a manner which will shed additional light on Lee's over-all general character, which, in my opinion, was cut short in the commission report," he said in an interview Thursday with the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Senators to Give Britt Aide

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State senators, here for their biennial pre-legislative meeting, Sunday adopted a rule change aimed at strengthening the legislature's power to override a veto by the governor.

The senators, who elected Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs president pro tempore of the Senate, adopted a rule stating that if the governor refuses to accept a bill, the sergeant at arms will leave the bill in the governor's office and secure a certificate certifying the date of delivery.

In past legislative sessions the governor has sent bills back refusing to see them, thus avoiding having to act on it in the mandatory 10 days.

Another rule change provides for a secret ballot in the senatorial confirmation of gubernatorial appointments.

The senators also virtually assured Lieutenant Governor-elect Maurice Britt of a parliamentarian he had requested.

Hubert Admits to Several Eccentricities

By KELLY SMITH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has told his new neighbors he has "lots of eccentricities — you'll get used to them."

The neighborhood, a combination of chic and run-down, doesn't seem to mind. Two thousand persons turned out Sunday at three gatherings in the area to welcome the Humphreys to their new home, an apartment in a fancy high-rise building.

Humphrey gave them the ground rules for living around a vice president:

"I like to talk."
"I like to walk."
"I expect you to come up and say hello."

As for Mrs. Humphrey, she said, "Some of you have already seen me out walking my little dog, or at the supermarket. Please say hello."

The vice president says he now can walk to the Capitol. Their former home in suburban Chevy Chase, Md., was 45 minutes by car from downtown.

He also indicated he had to be roped into moving.

He said, "Like most husbands, I resisted the whole operation. I was screaming and hollering as she was dragging me into the 20th century."

"I always loved our old house. I'd lived there longer than I lived anywhere in my life, 18 years. Mrs. Humphrey, in her way, brought me the news as we were about to move. I proceeded with a big act."

"She told me to leave town. I did. That was the period known as the campaign."

The Humphreys moved about six weeks ago, but have been out of town most of the time since.

"I'll tell you a secret," said Muriel Humphrey, "I can get him home for lunch now."

She left the welcome parties saying, "We're glad to be ordinary people. See you at the supermarket."

Coppolino Murder Case Is Resumed

By DAVID ROSENZWEIG
FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino's defense today resumes cross-examination of Marjorie Farber, who claims the anesthesiologist strangled her husband while she watched in a hypnotic trance.

Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey is expected to make another attempt to portray Mrs. Farber's testimony as a "cruel hoax" perpetrated by a scorned woman.

Coppolino, 34, and Mrs. Farber, 52, had been carrying on a clandestine love affair before the 1963 death of her husband, retired Army Col. William E. Farber, according to testimony.

The Farbers and the Coppolinos lived across the street from each other in the fashionable Fox Run section of Middletown Township, near the New Jersey resort coast.

Testifying as a star witness for the state Friday, Mrs. Farber admitted she tried to drug the colonel to death but couldn't go through with it.

"All I can say is I was in a trance-like state. . . I was in a terrible conflict," she testified, accusing Coppolino of planting in her an urge to kill the 50-year-old colonel.

Closely cross-examined by Bailey, Mrs. Farber said she had come forth with her story at the risk of self-incrimination because she feared the doctor-hypnotist might try to kill his attractive, wealthy second wife, Mary Gibson Coppolino.

Coppolino married Mrs. Gibson, a 39-year-old divorcee, in October 1965, less than six weeks after his first wife, Carmela, 32, died in Sarasota, Fla. He has since been indicted in Florida on a charge of drugging Carmela to death with an anesthetic.

Mrs. Farber, who had moved next door to the Coppolinos in Florida four days before Carmela died, went to authorities after the doctor's remarriage.

On the stand she denied boasting, "I may be the next Mrs. Coppolino."

Pressed by Bailey as to why she ignored an attorney's advice not to incriminate herself, Mrs. Farber said she went to the police "because Carl killed my husband and I was convinced he killed Carmela."

Romney Takes Ambitions to Governors

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's George Romney carries his presidential ambitions into a new forum today after what one colleague called "some hard sells and some soft sells" aimed at other Republican governors.

The Michigan governor is a center of GOP presidential attention as the Republican Coordinating Committee meets to rejoice in the party's election comeback and talk about the political road ahead.

Two men who could stand in Romney's presidential path are due at the session, too. One is former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, trailing Romney in postelection polls but rated a likely rival to head the next GOP ticket.

The other is Barry Goldwater, still dissatisfied with Romney's explanation of his refusal to endorse the 1964 Republican ticket the Arizona led.

On the eve of the meeting, the Washington Post reported that students and political leaders listed as temporary officers of a "Youth for Romney" organization knew nothing about the group and had not authorized use of their names.

Formation of 111 Youth for Romney groups had been announced at the Colorado Springs, Colo., conference of the Republican Governors Association by Merlo K. Gates, an unsuccessful candidate for the State Legislature from Wichita, Kan., who identified himself as chairman of the youth group.

But the Post quoted five of the 13 asserted temporary officers as saying they didn't know about the group. Several indicated the names had come from a list of sponsors of a national student leadership seminar organized in May 1965.

Pennsylvania's retiring Gov. William W. Scranton described the hard sell-soft sell tactics the Romney forces followed Friday and Saturday at Colorado Springs.

Romney insisted, privately as well as publicly, that he had not made up his mind about a presidential bid, and wouldn't, for about six months. But one Romney associate said it would be naive to deny that the governor is testing the political climate for a White House bid.

Scranton said Romney had picked up strength at the conference, although no commitments were claimed.

"I think George probably went out stronger than he came in," said Scranton, who made a futile nomination bid of his own at the 1964 GOP National Convention.

'Lost Valley' Park Offers Viewers a Rugged Scenic Fantasy

By Max Love, Travel Writer, Arkansas Publicity and Parks Commission.

Probably no other spot within the state of Arkansas is as appropriately named as "Lost Valley," a rugged scenic fantasy that lies about a mile and a quarter west of state highway 43, two miles south of the town of Ponca in the northwest section of Newton County. "Lost Valley" is a natural wilderness spectacle that defies accurate description. Its eerie beauty is second to no other place on earth. And, actually the valley is not a valley at all; it's a deep, narrow gorge that winds like a corkscrew between sheer cliffs from nearly a mile to a point where crystal clear water from underground springs gurgles from out of a cave and plunges downward for several hundred feet into a tiny creek bed below.

Entrance to the "Valley" is through a tunnel carved through solid limestone over eons of time by the waters of spring-fed Clark Creek. The tunnel, which forms a natural bridge between the limestone bluff to the north and the more sloping mountain on the south—a distance of about 100 feet—is about 40 feet long, 15 to 18 feet wide, and 8 to 10 feet high.

"Lost Valley" is reached by a narrow dirt road that runs west from highway 43, following the north bank of Clark Creek. The road ends about a quarter of a mile from the entrance of the valley. From this point the visitor must hike up the dry creek bed and enter the valley through the tunnel.

The hike to the tunnel, in itself, is worth the trip, even if the visitor never enters "Lost Valley." The scenery along this quarter of a mile is unbelievable. It's like entering a primeval world where you would expect at any moment to see an aboriginal stone-age man appear from one of the numerous caves, with his club raised high above his head, ready to protect his "home" from marauding saber-toothed tigers. Although this valley was the home of Indians for centuries before the first white settlers started arriving in the Ozarks in the early 1800's, it has been able to retain much of its primitive character.

Once, however, the visitor walks through the tunnel and gazes upon the almost eerie splendor of "Lost Valley," he realizes immediately that he actually is "in another world". Here, in all of its reality, is Shangri-La, the so-called "non-existent" idyllic land depicted as a Utopia in James Hilton's novel "Lost Horizon"—published in 1933.

But this is only the beginning, for at each sharp turn along the winding creek bed the scenery becomes more unbelievable. To the right white limestone cliffs rise hundreds of feet into the key, while to the left, the mountain rises less abruptly. And, in contrast to the glittering limestone cliffs, the mountainside to the left is dark, boulder strewn and covered with numerous different species of trees, bushes and vines. The left-or-south side of the valley is literally pinched with caves, each of which show evidence of being the home of wild animals including wolf and panther.

Up near the end of the valley on the north side, is a giant cave in the limestone bluff. This huge "Indian Rock House" is known locally as "Cob Cave" which, according to archaeologists, was occupied for centuries by various Indian groups. It was so named by early white settlers, to this mountainous section of Newton County, because of the thousands of small corncobs that were scattered upon its floor—cobs from Indian corn which had been left there by its former occupants.

As recently as this summer (1966), archaeologists digging around the floor of the cave, discovered, among other Indian artifacts, corncobs that are estimated to be several hundred years old.

A hundred feet or so west of Cob Cave the valley comes to an abrupt end. Here the limestone peaks join the dark sandstone, forming a steep draw. About 200 feet above this draw there is a cave which houses a small waterfall. The water pouring out of this cave tumbles down the draw over a series of falls and becomes the headwaters of Clark Creek in the valley below.

The Stage Of Opera Right Now

OPERA: Grand And Not So
Grand. By Mary Jane Matz. Morrow, $5.95.

Opera fans will find in this book a sort of "inside" story on how things are going. It was written by a longtime member of the "Opera News" staff.

It has an American viewpoint, but it contains many details about opera around the world. It is concerned mainly with the present, but there are many comparisons with the past.

Mrs. Matz puts into historical perspective the thesis that first the singers, then the composers, later the conductors and more recently the stage directors have dominated opera production. (And she isn't too happy about the current trend.) She finds that the singers, once so wonderfully temperamental, have become less and less the key people, as they subside into a team effort that is frigid and unemotional.

She examines the economic pressures of this "child of an unstable marriage between art and business." She considers the well-known effect of the airplane, which causes big-name singers to hop from one continent to another at a great rate, burning themselves out in physically abbreviated careers.

She finds some things to deplore, no doubt rightfully. For example, in the United States only a few companies have nerve enough to try new works, and the others seem like museums that present the old classics over and over. And in southern Europe, the younger generation just isn't interested in the traditional opera house.

There is a good bit of material on opera's transition to a big business, overstuffed, on the problems of repertory; the way a modern composer works; the effects of recordings; the idea of opera attendance as a status symbol rather than as an aesthetic experience.

This account is full of opinion, and perhaps not all of the professionals would agree wholly with the author's positions. But for all that, it is a lively, knowledgeable view of where we are now, just as tonight's curtain goes up.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Great Seal of the United States was first adopted by the Continental Congress June 20, 1782, and by the federal government Sept. 16, 1789, says The World Almanac. Found on all $1 bills, it is inscribed with three Latin mottoes: Annuit Coeptis, meaning He Has Favored Our Undertaking; Novus Ordo Seclorum—A New Order of the Ages; and E Pluribus Unum—Out of Many, One. The secretary of state is the custodian of the seal.

Our old friend, Gordon Keel of Vancouver, British Columbia, writes, "You have said that when both sides lead the same suit one is crazy. Here is a hand that disproves this theory. I was certain that the bidding and the opening trump lead had marked West with both minor suit kings. In that case the winning play had to be a trump return at trick two."

We have also said that there is no "always" and no "nevers" in bridge. You only want to play the same suit your opponents lead on rare occasions. This was one of them. So you return hearts at trick two.

West led a spade at trick three. Gordon ruffed, entered dummy by finessing the queen of diamonds, ruffed a second spade, led a diamond to dummy's ace, ruffed the last spade and threw West in with his last diamond. Dummy's fourth diamond was now good and poor West had his choice of leading a club up to Gordon's ace-queen, or a spade which would allow Gordon to ruff in his own hand and to discard a club from dummy.

Gordon points out that he would have been crazy if West had shown up with four diamonds and East had held the king of clubs.

His play worked and it was unquestionably the best line but Gordon did not have to return a heart at trick two. He could have taken the diamond finesse instead, ruffed a spade and led the second heart at trick four. The trap to avoid was not to release the ace of diamonds before leading that second trump. If Gordon had done that he would not have been able to ruff out all dummy's spades and West would not have been caught in the end play.

Says Romney's National Ideas Thin

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney is a national figure but his national ideas look pretty thin.

Esteemed for high character and moral overtones, he is running ahead of President Johnson in public opinion polls. But what does he stand for?

Romney says he hasn't made up his mind on running for the presidency but he is beginning to scamp around the country like a man taking the Republican pulse on his prospects for representing the party in 1968.

Because Johnson didn't put in a tax increase last year, Romney said, the economy is now teetering on the brink of a slow-down. But there is a lot of disagreement among economists on that and on whether one is needed at all.

And Romney, whose only experience in government has been on a state level and who has been against too much big federal government, then offered what political scientists might call a kind of utopian concept of government:

Voluntary associations for cooperation action centers. (Whatever they mean.)

Private enterprises for competitive action centers. (Whatever they mean.)

State and local governments for locally oriented action centers close to control by the people. (Whatever they mean.)

The federal government as an action center to cope with tasks requiring unified national effort. (Whatever that means.)

If he is going to revolutionize the running of government, it would seem, he could at least get specific, particularly since he said dependence on the federal government is "dwarfing America's men."

(But all this is in line with what appears to be Romney's inability to be specific or get down to cases generally.)

For example: He is reluctant to open up on one of the most important issues of the time, the war in Viet Nam, saying he wants to give it much more thought because "before a person raises questions he ought to be able to make specific proposals."

But he has already had years to give much thought since the war has been going on for years. Perhaps his performance at the governors' conference last July dented his self-confidence on this subject.

When he tried to answer a question on Viet Nam he made hash of it.

He is considered a moderate Republican but says he can't follow the "gobbledygook about conservatives, liberals and moderates." He is definitely on record against "extremists" and did not support the presidential candidacy of Sen. Barry Goldwater in 1964.

There are profound differences between conservatives, liberals and moderates which Romney misses when he considers any differences "gobbledygook."

Those differences have run all through American history, and are still there in American political life, daily visible above all places in Congress where the conservatives are and always have been the restraining force, the als the push-aheads, and the moderates the men who are willing to push ahead faster than the conservatives, slower than the liberals.

WHO'S A CHICKEN? asks Jo Aberdeen, braving London's chill in a bikini made of goose feathers. The downy outfit was one of the entries in the 1966 festival of poultry feather hats in that city.

War Vets Dig in for Yule Celebration

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The "Christmas Company" — 54 Vietnam veterans straight from the battlefields — have dug in at a plush hotel in Phoenix for a week of relaxation and forgetting.

The relaxing came easy. The forgetting was difficult.

"When a good buddy gets hit, you want to cry. But you can't, you've got work to do," said Army Spec. 5 Ives Mosley, 21, of Reidsville, Ga.

He looked up at the 10-foot Christmas tree he and some of the other men were decorating and the former medic with the 101st Airborne Division shook his head.

"The war seems a long time ago, a long way away," said Mosley, who left Vietnam about a week ago.

"I've seen enough action for a lifetime, for a dozen lifetimes," said Pfc. Michael Passaro, 19, of Ozone Park, N.Y.

"In Vietnam you got so that you don't have any feelings. A buddy gets hit, but you've got to watch out for your own skin," said Passaro, who was with the Army's 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division.

Looking from windows of the Camelback Inn, Mosley, Passaro and their buddies shielded their eyes as the bright Arizona sun reflected from leaves of a palm tree and the glistening swimming pool beneath it.

A golf course provided a deep green background for the riding stables. It seemed unreal to the men, who only a week ago were plodding through Vietnam rice fields.

Pretty girls served drinks and hors d'oeuvres. Some of the men tried to get into the swing

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

ADVICE TO BRIDES

Dear Helen: I have only this to say: If you are no great shakes as a housekeeper, gals, don't marry a tall man!

I did. He's six feet four, and he sees ALL—the top of the refrigerator, dust on high shelves, cobwebs on the ceiling beams and chandeliers. I'm five feet two, and whenever I climb on a chair to clean the top of my refrigerator, I find little love notes written in the dust: "I like you anyway."

What do you do with a man like this?—SHORTY

Dear Shorty: Love him—and hand him the dust cloth.—H.

Dear Helen: I've often wondered why they let actors get stoned on TV, and show them drinking all over the place in plays and movies, when they won't allow anyone in a commercial to touch lips to a beer glass, or even advertise hard liquor. Is there any real reason why the TV code of ethics has two sets of rules?—D.B.E.

Dear D: Beats ME. I guess only the code's in the know.—H. PERSONAL TO "IS SHE SICK?"

Not being an expert, I don't diagnose mental illness—and neither should mean, gossiping neighbors!

Each of us—including you—has so many odd quirks that, taken out of context and listed by an enemy-type "friend," they'd make us all sound like candidates for the nut hatch. Your letter is fascinating but deadly and I suggest you peddle your hate elsewhere.—H.

Dear Helen: There's only one thing worse than getting yanked out of a hot tub to talk on the phone and that's to drip all the way out to the phone and find the caller has hung up!

This has happened to me every day for a week—in fact every day since I had the falling out with my neighbor in the next apartment, the one who used to sneak out and read my morning paper then toss it in front of my door in a holy mess.

I begin to suspect something. You see, our walls are thin and we can hear when anyone next door is running bath water. Just like clockwork, the minute I get soaped, that blasted phone rings. Now anyone but an enemy would wait till it rings four times, but not this diabolical caller. I've slipped and slid to the phone on the third ring, and he's hung off.

The other day I ran the tub, then waited by the phone. Grabbed the receiver the minute it rung—and heard a click. How can I trap him?—SUSPICIOUS

Dear Sus: You may not trap of things by decorating the Christmas tree.

Some succeeded, but others smiled for a while and wandered away. For them there was still too much to remember — and forget.

The men are the guests of hotel owner Jack Stewart, who invited a similar number of men from Vietnam last Christmas.

"This is one way we can express our appreciation for the sacrifices these fighting men have made for us," said Stewart, who with some 30 other Phoenix businessmen sponsored the affair.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset rose, dull, untalkative, not even likable. We'd talked of marriage, but now I'm not sure. What do you think?—MARY

Dear Mary: It's your decision, but think long and hard before you marry a man who can only like the world when looking at it through rose-colored eyeballs. The public sees a very happy fellow, but the wife sees all the hangovers.—H.

RFK Issues Challenge to Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has challenged FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to make public his entire file on who authorized what eavesdropping while Kennedy was attorney general.

The New York Democrat fired the challenge Sunday night in a new round of the Kennedy-Hoover disagreement which erupted Saturday.

The furor opened with publication of a Hoover letter which said Kennedy knew all about FBI eavesdropping.

Kennedy said he didn't, that Hoover "has been misinformed." Hoover said Kennedy's report was "absolutely inconceivable." Hoover produced a document backing his stand from the same FBI official Kennedy had quoted for his side.

Then Kennedy called for Hoover to make his entire file public. "There is no indication that Mr. Hoover ever asked me for authorization for any single bugging device," said Kennedy.

Another former attorney general, Kennedy successor Nicholas Katzenbach, emerged as a sort of would-be peacemaker with a terse statement giving credit to each side and in essence chalking the dispute up to misunderstanding.

Meanwhile, the practical effects of hidden surveillance were scored in New York by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

"We can't pick up a phone in Washington without fear and trepidation that someone is listening in," he said in a television interview on WNBC-TV's "Man in Office."

"I don't know who is doing it," said Celler. "The abuse of these devices is all over. Whatever benefit they might be for the police departments, it is far outweighed by the danger implicit in them."

The Hoover letter, to Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, said use of wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping equipment increased during Kennedy's stint as attorney general, from 1961 until 1964.

AEA Group Okays $500 Raise Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An average of $500 a year salary increase for teachers in each of the next two years has been approved by the Arkansas Education Association's Council on Education.

The council, meeting Saturday, also favored free text books for high school students, providing such would not come at the expense of salary increases.

Both items have been urged by Governor-elect Winthrop Rockefeller, but AEA leaders have strongly endorsed the salary increase in line with the council's action Saturday.

'Old Soldiers' of Movie World Plan to Entertain GIs

By JERRY BUCK

NEW YORK (AP) — As Christmas draws near a different sort of buildup is taking place in Vietnam. It's an entertainment escalation, and the "old soldiers" heading for the combat zone include Bob Hope, Martha Raye, Frances Langford, Anita Bryant and Johnny Grant.

Hope, who ought to rate as many hash marks as a 30-year sergeant, is making his 15th Christmas tour. "You should have seen me at Appomattox," he said, "I was a smash there."

Phyllis Diller, making her first trip to Vietnam as a member of the Hope entourage, said she is helping Lady Bird Johnson's "Keep America Beautiful" campaign by leaving the country. She is taking along a half-million pieces of bubble gum, which ought to set a few jaws to wagging.

The USO shows lined up for Vietnam over the holidays include the Bob Hope show, Martha Raye, Frances Langford, and the Clara Ward Singers, a Gospel group.

Disc jockey Johnny Grant, making his 29th overseas tour, is taking along actresses Tippi Hedren and Diane McBain to cheer up servicemen from Saigon to Da Nang. "The soldiers call me the GI Santa Claus who brings them pretty girls," Grant said.

Other troupes — including two college groups — will entertain American servicemen in Europe, the Pacific, Caribbean, Rules Georgia Legislators Can Pick Gov.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the Georgia Legislature has the right to pick the state's next governor by choosing between Republican Howard H. Callaway and Democrat Lester G. Maddox.

"There is no provision of the United States Constitution or any of its amendments which either expressly or impliedly dictates the method a state may use to select its governor," Justice Hugo L. Black said in delivering the high court's 7-2 decision.

With the ruling the Supreme Court upheld the validity of a 142-year-old section of the Georgia Constitution which provides that when no candidate for governor gets a majority of the popular vote in an election the state legislature is to choose between the two top vote-getters.

That section had been held unconstitutional Nov. 17 by a three-judge federal court in Atlanta. Today's decision reverses the lower court.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Highway Department says that $80,966,216 was produced by highway user taxes in the first 11 months this year.

The figure was more than $10 million above that for the first 11 months of 1965, but a highway user tax increase went into effect July 1, 1965.

State Budgets Big Problem, Says Winthrop

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Governor-elect Winthrop Rockefeller told the Arkansas Medical Society Sunday that the major problem he has faced since his election has been in dealing with state budgets.

Rockefeller said he tried to work out a budget "that will be realistic."

He said he had noted some padding of budgets in various departments and had returned the budget request to the department with instructions to bring the request in line with recommendations.

Rockefeller takes his budget recommendations before the Legislative Council today. The council begins its hearings on budgets of agencies that derive its money from general revenues.

Rockefeller told the doctors that he would be sympathetic with them and try to work with them during his term in office. "I'm fully aware of the inequities" of fees doctors receive for treating welfare patients, Rockefeller said.

He was asked if there was anything that might be done to make a welfare recipient feel some responsibility to society.

Rockefeller said the state was in need of 60 to 70 graduate social workers to "try to rekindle a desire to improve themselves" in welfare recipients.

Planes Blast Red Buildup Areas, Route

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Striking at Communist forces believed readying another drive south, U.S. B52 Stratofortresses bombed the Mu Gia Pass in North Vietnam today and the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam Sunday.

The giant eight-engine bombers, each carrying up to 27 tons of bombs, struck at a mile-long stretch of the mountains pass through which the North Vietnamese filter into Laos and down to South Vietnam.

The B52s attacked Communist concentrations Sunday in the demilitarized zone seven miles north of the U.S. Marine stronghold known as the Rockpile.

The attack on the Mu Gia Pass was the eighth B52 raid on North Vietnam and the first since Oct. 10. The B52s had not hit the demilitarized zone in almost two months, although other U.S. planes have pounded it repeatedly.

In other developments: —Some 2,000 more American combat infantrymen arrived in Vietnam to bolster U.S. strength here to 365,700 men.

—Two warships of the Thai navy arrived in Saigon to add to Thailand's contribution to the allied side. Thailand previously sent two C123 transport planes.

—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge left by plane for the United States to spend the Christmas holidays with his family. Lodge has scoffed at speculation that he would not return.

Prosecutors Would Keep Death Penalty

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Prosecuting Attorneys Association has adopted unanimously a resolution urging retention of the death penalty in Arkansas.

The association, meeting here Saturday, also adopted a resolution favoring establishment of an intermediate penal reformatory for first offenders and juvenile offenders considered too hardened to be sent to a state training school.

The resolution to retain the death penalty said that "there are many issues involved in this very serious matter."

Noting that some have sought repeal of the death penalty law, the association said, "We respectfully submit that this question of such vital and grave concern to the safety of every person in this state should be approached with due caution, circumspection and deliberation over a period of time."

Cancer Spread All Over Jack Ruby, Dr. Says

By PEGGY SIMPSON
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Medical specialists start examining cancer-stricken Jack Ruby from head to toe today to seek the source of the disease spreading through his body.

"His chances of recovery depend on the location of the primary site," said Dr. Jay Sanford, professor of internal medicine at Southwestern Medical School. Dr. Sanford heads a team of physicians treating Ruby.

Sheriff Bill Decker, who has custody of Ruby, called a news conference today. He said Dr. Sanford would be present.

Ruby, 35, onetime Dallas night club operator who neither drank nor smoked, was taken to Parkland Hospital Friday night after being treated for a week by the county health officer for a congested chest. The hospital said he had pneumonia.

A malignant tumor was discovered Saturday to have nearly consumed a lymph node in Ruby's neck. Doctors said it signified there were other sites and that the cancer was advanced.

Whatever the results of this week's tests, Dr. Sanford said, "I do not expect he will be able to go to court" as early as February for retrial on a charge of murder in the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Oswald, identified by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963, was gunned down two days later in the basement of Dallas City Hall while being transferred to the county jail. The shooting was televised nationwide.
